

Show What You Know

Dear Parents,

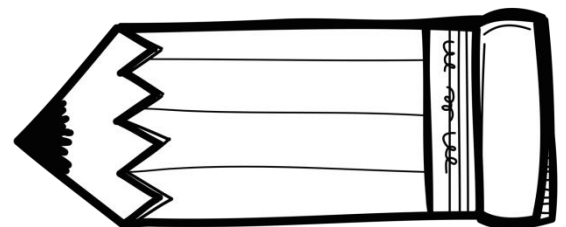

It is very important for children to be able to connect their learning with the real world. Being able to do so, allows them to see the importance in what they are learning. Once they realize that what they are learning can help them outside of school, they are more likely to take on a love for learning and become more engaged in school.

Any time your child uses what they have learned in school to help them in the real world, have them write this down so they can share it with their classmates and post it on our Show What You Know board.

Some examples may be but are not limited to:

- ~ using reading strategies to read a word on a cereal box, street sign, etc...
- ~ solving a word problem (If you have 6 toy cars and your sister has 2, how many more does she need for it to be fair?)
- ~ creating an activity for their classmates that incorporates something we are currently learning about
- ~ doing further research on a topic we are learning about
- ~ writing a story

Thanks for your encouragement in this,
Mrs. McArthur

*Every share will earn them a special surprise.
